Everyone hears differently. The way we each perceive sounds and their subtle nuances is highly personal to us. That is why it's important to have a hearing instrument specifically adapted to your hearing needs and the way you would like your world to sound.

Powered by a unique combination of advanced audiological features, Nera is the best performing mid-level hearing solution we have ever created. Nera instruments work together, wirelessly coordinating instrument settings to work more naturally with how your brain and ears want to hear. For example, Nera instruments use microphones that can automatically focus on conversations you want to hear and reduce annoying background noise. Nera also enhances your sound experience with advanced whistling and feedback protection to prevent embarrassing squealing.

Once fitted by a hearing care professional, and shaped to your individual hearing needs and sound preferences, Nera will provide good sound quality and improved speech understanding.

Nera can be counted on to perform in a variety of situations thanks to a design proven in rigorous testing. The instruments are designed to help keep water, dust, and debris out, and all key components are coated to combat moisture-related issues.
